and Industry

The Federation of Veterinarians of Europe (FVE) is the umbrella organisation of veterinary professional organisations across 40 European countries. The Federation is the European voice of over 300.000 veterinarians, working in all disciplines of the veterinary profession. For more information see: www.fve.org

Due to the upcoming retirement of the current Executive Director (ED), FVE is searching for an

Executive Director

The ED is the head of the Brussels (Be) based FVE secretariat. The secretariat, with its highly trained and experienced staff, is responsible for supporting the FVE Board in the development and implementation of FVE policies. For that purpose the secretariat stays in good contact with the EU institutions and a large network of stakeholder organisations and institutes across Europe. The secretariat also is the organization's administrative center and an important source of information for the FVE members.

The profile of the preferred candidate includes:

- Veterinarian, graduated from an ESEVT approved school
- Well experienced in working with EU institutions
- Good perception of working for a members-organisation
- Proven management and financial skills
- Good social skills and leadership capabilities
- Excellent command of the English language (speaking and writing)
- Flexible and with a good sense of humor
- Living in or near Brussels and able to travel frequently

FVE offers a very interesting and exciting job in the center of the European veterinary community. A job where you will have a lot of freedom plus an excellent team to work with. Remunerations are in accordance with the weight of the position.

Looking forward to receiving your application, including a motivation letter and CV at vacancy@fve.org by 15 October at the latest. Questions can be sent to the same e-mail address.
